

CLIENT: Mouchel Parkman Services Limited

VALUE: Circa £45'000

PROJECT BRIEF:

The Redheugh Bridge stands at 897m long and is located in Tyne and Wear. The 23 year old bridge carries the A189 linking Gateshead to Newcastle over the River Tyne.

In 2003, Total Access (UK) Ltd was commissioned by Mouchel Parkman on behalf of Gateshead Council Highways and Construction to carry out a Principle Inspection of the structure. The works included a full tactile condition survey of all 14 spans and the lighting column supports. It also involved traffic safety and management, working safely at height over public areas, water, private rail property; and prompt delivery of the detailed examination report.

Total Access UK Ltd specialises in safe working in areas of limited access; much of our inspection work is undertaken either utilising roped access or confined spaces entry techniques.
